To: The Commission

Opposition to Application of Charles Crawford for Review

Rawhide Radio, LLC ("Rawhide") , by its counsel, hereby submits its Opposition to the Application of Charles Crawford for Review ("Application for Review") submitted by Charles Crawford ("Crawford") on March 30, 2004, with reference to Report and Order DA 04-734 (Audio Division, rel. March 19, 2004) ("Report and Order") in the above-referenced matter. In support of its opposition to the Application for Review, Rawhide states the following.

The Audio Division dismissed Crawford's petition for rule making to allot FM Channel 297A at Goldthwaite, Texas, on the ground that it conflicted with an element in the Counterproposal which Rawhide (joined by other parties¹) timely filed in MM Docket No. 00-148 (Quanah, Texas), and it was filed after the publicly-announced comment date in that proceeding. Report and Order, Paragraph 2. In reaching its decision, the Audio Division cited and relied on the decision of the Commission in Benjamin and Mason, Texas, F.C.C. 03-327, 19 F.C.C. Rcd. 470 (rel. Jan. 8, 2004) ("Benjamin and Mason"), appeal pending, sub nom. Crawford

v. F.C.C. and United States of America, Case No. 04-1031. Id., footnote 6. In Benjamin and Mason, the Commission affirmed the decision of the Audio Division (18 FCC Rcd 103 (Media Bur. 2003)) and upheld the dismissal of Crawford's petitions to allot FM channels in those communities for precisely the same reason as the Audio Division has now dismissed Crawford's petition to allot FM Channel 297A to Goldthwaite, Texas--i.e., the petitions conflicted with an element of the Counterproposal which Rawhide timely filed in MM Docket No. 00-148 (Quanah, Texas), and it was filed after the publicly-announced comment date in that proceeding.

Crawford's Application for Review merely incorporates by reference the arguments which he advanced in his Application for Review in the Benjamin and Mason proceeding. Since the Commission considered and expressly rejected all of Crawford's arguments in its decision in Benjamin and Mason², Rawhide sees no reason to respond to these rejected arguments at this time.^{3 4}

² Crawford's position in his Application for Review in the Benjamin and Mason proceeding is encapsulated in this assertion: "The Commission's dismissal of the Benjamin and Mason petitions due to conflicts with the counterproposal cannot be sustained under the Administrative Procedure Act and related judicial and agency decisions." (page iv) The Commission, however, determined that that this assertion is not well founded. Id., Paragraph 4 ("We conclude that the dismissal of his petitions due to conflicts with the Quanah NPRM complies with APA requirements"); Id., footnote 6 ("We are not required by the Administrative Procedure Act to issue separate notices for every channel under consideration. The release of the Notice of Proposed Rule Making in MM Docket No. 00-148 placed all parties on constructive notice that a rulemaking proceeding was occurring regarding the communities at issue and that an alternative, potentially preclusive allotment could occur"); and Id., footnote 8 ("Our FM allotment procedure also meets the "logical outgrowth" test applied by the Court of Appeals to determine whether a rulemaking action was based upon adequate notice and opportunity for public participation.")

⁴ Rawhide does, however, hereby incorporate by reference its views as set forth in its Opposition to Application for Review submitted on February 19, 2003, in the Benjamin and Mason proceeding

As the arguments advanced in the Application of Charles Crawford for Review have already been considered and rejected by the Commission, the Commission should summarily deny the relief sought therein and terminate this proceeding.

Respectfully submitted
